

THE DAGGER OF DEATH

WALTER CLEVER

Mark Campbell's anthropologist parents were always taking his fascinating parts of the world to search for ancient treasures. Now they're always paired with the jungles of South America...and it's up to Mark to find them.

But he's never to journey through the lands of the headhunting Zikoi to save. He's heard the legends about the Zikoi—horrible legends about barbaric sacrifices.

But it's Mark's only chance. He has to follow the trail of the only clue he has—the long hair...
